THE WASHINGTON PARLEY:

The conference called by the presidents of 16 major Jewish organizations for next week-end—in Washington—seems to have provoked a good deal of interest in high government circles... It can now be stated that high government officials agreed to address the two-day gathering which will be attended by about 600 selected top Jewish leaders from all parts of the country... One of these officials is George V. Allen, the new undersecretary of State who deals with affairs affecting Israel and the Arab countries... He will outline for the delegates the present stand of the State Department on the Arab-Israel situation... Another speaker will be Norman Paul, a high official of the Foreign Operations Administration, who will explain the policy of the American Government with regard to U.S. financial and technical aid to Israel... There may also be an American high official speaking on military aspects of Middle East security... All this points to the extraordinary importance which the U. S. Government attaches to the conference... And no wonder... The two-day parley will not be just a conference designed to conclude with the usual protest resolution against the arming of the Arab countries... It will be much more than that... It will express the interest of American Jews, as American citizens, in the long-term policy now being launched by the U. S. in the Middle East... And it will make constructive suggestions as to how certain aspects of this policy can be amended so as not to adversely affect the Jewish State... It can be visualized that the center of attention at the conference will be an overall review by Dr. Nahum Goldmann, as well as the talks delivered by the high officials of the U. S. Government... However, the sessions will also be addressed by experts from Israel and by prominent American Zionists and non-Zionists.

UNIFIED ACTION: The Washington parley will in effect be the most representative gathering of American Jewry since the American Jewish Conference... In addition to the 25 delegates each of the 16 organizations will send to the conclave, there will also be 100 prominent Jews personally invited... Fifty of them are well-known Jewish leaders and the other fifty are representative figures in their communities... These one hundred people have been chosen because of their private stature and will not be designated by organizations... The Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds—which is the central body of the American Jewish communities—

Knesset Confirms Ben Gurion's Appointment; Confidence Expressed

TEL AVIV, (JTA)—Confidence in the leadership of David Ben Gurion, who was sworn in in Parliament as Minister of Defense, was expressed by Pinchas Lavon, his predecessor, at a farewell party tendered in Mr. Lavon's honor by Israel Chief of Staff Moshe Dayan and high officials of the Defense Ministry. Gen. Dayan praised Mr. Lavon and revealed that during the 14 months of his service as Minister of Defense all military forces on land, sea and air have been strengthened.

Mr. Ben Gurion's re-entrance into political life took on the character of a triumphal return when thousands of persons lining Parliament Square here cheered him as he entered the Knesset to take the oath of office as Minister of Defense.

The khaki-shirted, bronzed ex-Premier was confirmed in his new office by a vote of 14 to 22, after declarations by various party spokesmen who took the floor following Premier Moshe Sharett's official announcement of the resignation of Pinchas Lavon and Mr. Ben Gurion's appointment. Mr. Sharett said:

"I felt convinced that no candidate would have the prospect of discharging the tasks more successfully or enjoy a greater amount of the nation's confidence than the man who established the Defense Army of Israel, who led it in the days of its supreme test, who consolidated its foundations for the future and to which his love and devotion have always been pledged." The Prime Minister also expressed the thanks of his government, as well as his own appreciation, that Ben Gurion had accepted the post, "not without difficult heart searchings."

Left-wing deputies, Communists and Herut party spokesmen made declarations of no confidence in the new appointment, and charged that Mr. Ben Gurion represents no change in security policy since Mr. Lavon was his protege and faithful pupil. Other criticism voice concerned the "undemocratic way in which the appointment was made, namely, without the Cabinet's consultation."

Zalman Ben Yaacov, speaking for Agudath Israel, said that his party supports the new Defense Minister despite the fact that Rabbi I. M. Levin, Agudath leader, resigned from the government under his administration as Premier over religious issues. He added that the Agudah wished to demonstrate the country's solidarity with Mr. Ben Gurion in view of the grave security situation. He expressed the hope that a "strong man" who enjoys the country's trust, would not disappoint the Orthodox elements of Israel.

Israel To Build Jewish Suburb Near Nazareth

TEL AVIV, (JTA)—The Israel Government has begun working on a new Jewish suburban development on the outskirts of Nazareth, the all-Arab Christian city in the Jewish State, the press reported here.

Security Council Head Acts on Bat Galim

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (JTA)—Israel's latest request for Egyptian release of the seized freighter Bat Galim has already brought action on the part of Dr. Victor A. Belaunde of Peru, president of the United Nations Security Council.

UN circles confirmed that Dr. Belaunde has had his first contact with the Egyptian delegation on this matter. The Council's president's action followed a letter from Abba S. Eban Israel's permanent delegate to the UN, insisting that not only Egypt release the vessel which was seized last September, but also that the vessel be permitted to finish the journey through the Suez Canal.

The Egyptians are understood to have assured Dr. Belaunde that they will be able to discuss the Bat Galim issue with him further "early next week." The Egyptian delegation has presumably asked Cairo for further instructions.

G.L.K. Smith Crony In-Again, Out-Again

By MILTON FRIEDMAN
JTA Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The former Washington representative of professional anti-Semite Gerald L. K. Smith infiltrated into the personal office staff of chairman James O. Eastland of the Senate Internal Security Committee, but has been fired by the Mississippi Democrat after intercession from party leaders.

When the presence of Ralph Baerman in Sen. Eastland's office became known, a number of labor, Jewish and Negro organizations expressed concern. These organizations were especially alarmed because of Sen. Eastland's new status as chairman of a Senate committee charged with investigating subversives. They questioned Baerman's objectivity toward Jews and Negroes in the light of his association with the Smith hate organization.

According to the files of the B'Nai B'Rith Anti-Defamation League, Baerman served as contact man for Smith and his lieutenants. The files show that Baerman received money from Smith's "Christian Nationalist Crusade" in addition to being on Sen. Eastland's payroll. This is verified by reports filed under the Corrupt Practices Act. Smith's most recent filing with Congress under the act reveals a payment of $165 to Baerman for office expenses. In 1951 the Smith group paid Baerman $100 for office expenses and $105 for printing and paper.

Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas, brought the Baerman issue to Sen. (Please turn to page 22)

In Brief

The news of late which bears significantly upon Israel has been in abundance, and it has had various points of origin. All of this news, however, when interpreted and woven into a whole, presents a bleak picture for Israel. She sits at the moment, or so we would judge, at a most precarious place in her life.

Apparently we are not at all alone in this judgment, for only last week, a most unique announcement was put forth by sixteen major American Jewish organizations; speaking as one, these groups issued a call for a two-day national Jewish Conference to be held in Washington on March 5, for the purpose of reviewing "issues relating to Israel which are of common interest and concern." The sixteen organizations, representing a very complete cross-section of American Jewish activity and thought, will each be entitled to twenty-five delegates. The inspiration for this conference is the very serious conviction that American policy in the Middle East will have a "crucial effect on the cause of democracy and freedom in that region." The proposed agenda points clearly to the thinking involved; it includes economic assistance, Jordan Valley development, military aid to the Arab states and its effect on Israel's security and peace in the Middle East.

There is certainly adequate cause for such concern. We are astounded, for example, to note American rationalization of the recent arms shipments to Iraq. A State Department public statement last week asserted that "The United States Government has maintained a position of impartiality" with regard to arms purchased commercially by Middle East governments. The statement went on to describe American concern for the "relatively defenseless" situation of the Middle East in the face of potential outside aggression.

One State Department official, Richard H. Sanger, a public affair adviser, seems to have embarked on his private psychological justification to the arms program. He announced last week that the Arabs are worried over the prospect that Israel could defeat them in a military showdown; Mr. Sanger added his own opinion—that Israel probably could beat the Arabs. We accept this as something of a back-handed compliment to Israel, but hardly the sort of thing we would expect to hear from our State Department.

And if the Arabs are so terribly worried about Israel's military prowess, one could never guess it from their provocations along the Israel-Jordan border. As a matter of fact, mortar firing was so heavy last week in the Beit Guvrin area that United Nations observers were forced to halt any peace-making efforts; they just couldn't get through the fire to the battle scene. This incident was initiated when an Israeli patrol found Jordanians digging emplacements inside Israel. Mighty provocative action we'd say.

Getting back to Iraq—while we've been busy hoping that the new-born Turkish-Iraqi pact would resound to Israel's benefit, we had hoped that Turkey's friendly feeling for Israel might possibly be contagious enough to infect at least an alliance partner. Israel, however, enjoys no such illusions. Premier Moshe Sharett has declared that the conclusion of such a pact as that between Turkey and Iraq represents a serious change in the balance of power in the Middle East—a change detrimental to Israel. Premier Sharett definitely interprets certain of the pact's clauses as aimed specifically at his country.

Dr. Emanuel Newmann, chairman of the National Zionist Executive committee, defined Israel's present situation and America's stake in this situation very concisely, when he asserted that "a ring of iron is being drawn about the young Republic of Israel by a hostile combination of Arab states seeking her destruction . . . at times it looks as if our own government is lending its influence unwittingly to this hostile combination . . ."

We could continue this exposition indefinitely—citing Egypt's actions, other border incidents, and then tie all this back again to probable or improbable American actions. The March 5 conference may or may not bear upon future news; we are hardly over-optimistic.

Phenomenal Rise

At the recently concluded 43rd General Assembly of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, held in Los Angeles, California, another exciting chapter in the record of Reform Judaism in this country was written. We found reports of the Assembly especially significant, inasmuch as it prefaced the start of the annual Combined Campaign, which raises monies to support Reform Judaism and its various enterprises. In our community, this campaign gets underway this week-end.

It is anticipated that, by the end of this year, some five hundred member congregations will be participants in the UAHC program. As recently as 1943 only 300 such congregations were listed. In Pittsburgh, we have seen accurate representation of the phenomenal growth of Reform Judaism. The youngest of our Reform Congregations, Temple Emanuel of South Hills, has close to three hundred affiliated families and is in the midst of an ambitious building program. Our oldest Reform Congregation, Rodef Shalom, is also in the midst of an expansion plan to meet ever growing needs.

Reform Judaism has made phenomenal progress in the one hundred years since Issac Mayer Wise arrived in Cincinnati. It is very apparent that financial resources must likewise expand to meet the growing demands of Reform Judaism. A nationwide campaign to raise some $2,340,000 is now underway. It is imperative that the local affiliates of the UAHC contribute proportionately to this Combined Campaign. Rodef Shalom, Temple Sinai and Temple Emanuel alike share the variety of resources constantly proffered by their parent body. In addition to the Union itself, there is the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, the oldest Jewish Theological college in the United States.

We urge hearty support of the 1955 Combined Campaign. Such support would represent a strengthening of religion in our midst and an assurance that the religious needs we feel will always be met in the same fashion which has characterized the past.

First Venture

This Sunday evening, February 27, will find an unique event taking place. This will be, of course, the Tercentenary Dinner, originally a combined meeting of the United Jewish Fund and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. Since the recent merger action, however, this dinner now becomes the first public meeting of our community's new United Jewish Federation. Sunday's dinner then is something of an historic event in this community's agenda. It represents a sort of beginning for the new Federation.

In addition, this important occasion is meant to mark the American Jewish Tercentenary. Guest speaker for the evening will be Ralph E. Samuel, national chairman of the American Jewish Tercentenary Committee. This dinner will offer an appropriate opportunity to pay public tribute to the late Richard S. Rauh, who served as president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, and played a foremost role in Pittsburgh's leadership. The second annual award of the Emanuel Spector Memorial Foundation of Pittsburgh will be made at Sunday's dinner.

If this program is any indication, it would seem that the Tercentenary Dinner will most certainly be a milestone in Pittsburgh's community life. We are happy indeed to hail this event, and to note all of its significance.

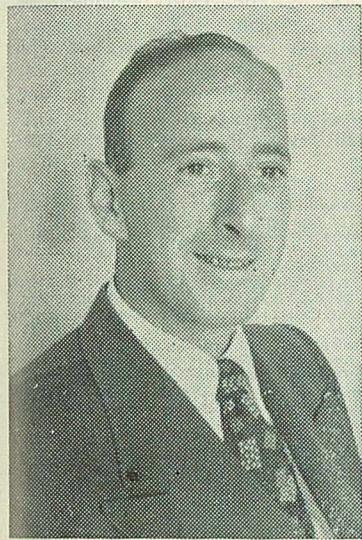

Large quantities of absorptive clays, used in refining oil, have been discovered in the Negev and in the Judean hills. Dr. Ya'acov Ben-Tor, head of the Mineralogy and Petrology Section of the Government Geological Institute, has announced.

Israeli Industrialist Will Address Bond Affair

Robert Abrahams, one of Israel's most colorful and brilliant industrial personalities, will be the guest speaker at a Purim Tea on March 7 at the Webster Hall Hotel, where the Women's Division for State of Israel Bonds will honor Mrs. Max J. Kleber, retiring Women's Division Chairman and honorary chairman of the 1955 Israel Bond campaign.

Another highlight of the Tea will be the installation of Mrs. Sidney Munter as 1955 chairman of the Women's Division for Israel Bonds.

S. Robert Abrahams

The Purim Tea will also pay tribute to Pittsburgh's "Queen Esthers"—the 1955 National Women Sponsors—(those women who have purchased $1,000 in Israel Bonds) and the members of "Chen" (those women who have sold more than $2,500 in Bonds).

Mr. Abrahams is associated with the management of the Yuval Gad Pipe Manufacturing Company near Askalon, one of the key factories in Israel's plans for economic growth. Yuval Gad is the largest plant in the world for the manufacture of pre-stressed concrete pipes. They play an indispensable role in Israel's program of irrigation, and are being used in the construction of the pipeline which will bring water from the North to the Negev, as well as for local irrigation schemes.

A man of wide communal influence, Mr. Abrahams serves on the Board of Education and the Board of Health for the growing city of Askalon, and is managing editor of the regional newspaper "Askalon Reborn."

The noted Israel industrialist served in the British army during World War II, and in the Israel Army during the War of Independence. He saw action at Dunkirk, in the Western Desert, and in Burma, and was commanding officer of a Military Hospital during the siege of Jerusalem. He holds a number of British and Israeli armed forces decorations.

Yugoslavia To Intercede

LONDON, (JTA) — Yugoslavia is prepared to help solve differences between Israel and Egypt if asked by both sides, according to a report by Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency. Parkway Jewish Center's Story An Inspiring One

By HARRY L. KATZ,

President, Parkway Jewish Center Shaar Ha-Shamayim

The moving of young married Jewish couples to suburban localities presents a challenge to the Jewish community at large—a challenge with a threat and an opportunity. The young Jewish couples settling in the rapidly developing suburban areas are by and large not adequately prepared to withstand the test for Jewish survival. Without proper guidance and care they can become the prey to disintegration; the new environment may facilitate the process of suicidal assimilation. On the other hand, there are indications of a trend back to Jewish traditions. Considerate attention and efficient planning may perform the miracle of bringing back a "lost generation."

Our Beginnings—Our Progress

One year after Jewish families from Pittsburgh had begun to move to the East Parkway area, a small group of them gathered to discuss some possibility of organized Jewish life. From July, 1954, they met once a week for a religious service. However, not until September, when Rabbi Pinchus N. Gross, a duly ordained rabbi who is idealistic and capable, appeared on the scene did the nucleus of a Jewish Community life take shape and form. Under Rabbi Gross' leadership, in a relatively short time, a Pre-School Nursery, Sunday School, Hebrew School, Adult Classes and a Sunday Breakfast Minyan were organized. Congregational officers were elected, a Charter of Incorporation was received and a Sisterhood was formed. Our name of Eastmont Hebrew Congregation was changed to Parkway Jewish Center Shaar Ha-Shamayim.

"Common Denominator" Theory

The overwhelming majority of the Jewish residents of the East Parkway area, which includes Eastmont, Churchill Manor, Churchill Valley, Monroeville, etc., has shown great interest in the activities of the Parkway Jewish Center. Most are young couples of modest income who settled here because they could not afford homes elsewhere. But many of them soon felt like "lost sheep" as they began to realize the difficulties facing them in bringing up their children in any form of Judaism. Now, however, they feel that Rabbi Gross has brought light and hope into their homes. Our cultural and social meetings are drawing large audiences; 65 children attend our school classes. Rabbi Gross has succeeded in attracting Jewish residents of various religious backgrounds and persuasions: orthodox, reform, and conservative. His stressing the "common denominator," what the average American Jew expects from Judaism, and his Adult Classes not indoctrinating but rather serving as a form of "Information Please" have already performed great things.

Bond Sales Revealed At Horelick Affair

The sale of State of Israel Bonds in Pittsburgh during the first two months of 1955 far exceeds the bond sales results during the same period last year, it was announced Thursday night, following a Dinner of Tribute to Samuel Horelick, who for two years served as the chairman of the Pittsburgh Committee for State of Israel Bonds. Charles J. Rosenbloom was chairman.

A spokesman for the bond drive pointed out that bond sales during January and February have already totaled $210,000, and that a large percentage of the 1954 Trustees, Guardians and National Women Sponsors for Israel already have re-enrolled for this year.

Highlight of the Dinner was the presentation to Mr. Horelick of a plaque of honor from the National Israel Bond Organization. This plaque stated, in part, that the award was being made "in profound appreciation for his devotion and loyal service to the cause of Israel's economic development through State of Israel Bonds."

In addition to the award to Mr. Horelick, distinguished service citations were presented to Samuel Avins, Charles J. Rosenbloom, David Busis and Mrs. Max J. Kleber, all of whom held key positions in the bond organization under Mr. Horelick's leadership, and to H. M. Caplan, who sold the greatest number of Bonds in 1954 in Pittsburgh.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Rabbi Dr. James G. Heller of Cincinnati, chairman of Community Relations of the State of Israel Bond Organization, who stressed the vital role which American Jewish communities must play in building up the economy of the State of Israel through continual support of the Israel Bond Drive.

American Reform Judaism Local Campaign Begins

The annual campaign in the Greater Pittsburgh and Tri-State Area for the national institutions of American Reform Judaism has begun in a joint effort that has attracted the attention of communities throughout the United States and Canada.

For many years the Pittsburgh staunch supporter of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Focal point of the 1954-55 effort are Pittsburgh's three Reform congregations—Temple Rodef Shalom, Temple Sinai and Temple Emanuel of South Hills. In addition to the Pittsburgh Reform congregations, the campaign will embrace communities in Western Pennsylvania, North East Ohio and Northern West Virginia.

Silas Adelsheim, who has headed the campaign for Jewish Reform institutions at Temple Rodef Shalom for the past two years, has agreed to remain at the helm for the new effort. In addition to providing local leadership to the campaign, Mr. Adelsheim is also a member of the National General Committee.

Working with him at Temple Rodef Shalom are Marcus Lester Aaron, president of the Congregation and a member of the National Board of Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, and Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, spiritual leader and a national vice chairman of the National Rabbinical Council of the Combined Camaign. Also active in the Rodef Shalom campaign are Eugene B. Strassburger, a vice chairman of the National Combined Campaign as well as a member of the National Board of the UAHC, and Louis Caplan, a member of the National Board of Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Tri-State Area drive has been a

Charles L. Reizenstein, another member of the Combined Campaign's National General Committee, has accepted the chairmanship of the fund raising effort at Temple Sinai, where he has the cooperation of Marcus Shafer, president of the Congregation, and Rabbi Burton Levinson. The campaign at Temple Emanuel of South Hills is being guided by Peter Cooper, president of the Congregation.

Another important source of leadership to the Tri-State campaign is Rabbi Meyer M. Abramowitz of Sharon, Western Pennsylvania chairman of the National Rabbinical Council.

Among the communities included in the 1954-55 Tri-State campaign are Altoona, Bradford, Charleroi, Erie, Greensburg, Johnstown, McKeesport, New Castle, Sharon and Uniontown in Pennsylvania; Wheeling, Clarksburg and Morgantown in West Virginia and East Liverpool and Steubenville in Ohio.

Funds raised through the Combined Campaign are divided between the UAHC, the national parent body of 490 affiliated congregations throughout the United States and Canada, and the HUC-JIR, the oldest Jewish theological college in the United States. The Union serves its member congregations in synagogue administration, Jewish education, religious programs and provides the textbooks for communal religious schools. It sponsors special study groups and institutes for young people and works closely with other religious groups to promote better understanding among all people and to eliminate bias and prejudice.

Workers Plan Dinner

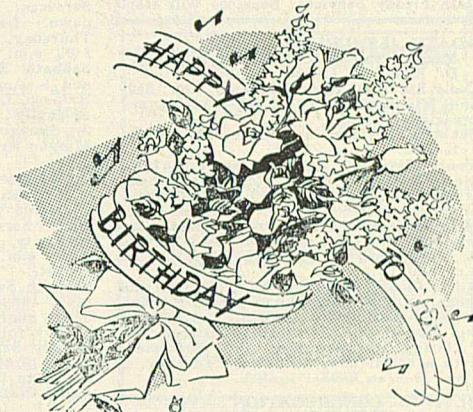

The next meeting of the workers for the 39th Anniversary Dinner of Congregation Adath Jeshurun will take place in the Synagogue on Wednesday, March 9, at 8 p.m., Max Herrup, chairman, announces.

At a recent meeting for the May 22 dinner, workers reported on advertisements for the program book and sponsors and donors. For further details, contact Mr. Herrup, Morris A. Westerman, secretary of the congregation, or the Synagogue Office, EMerson 1-0176.

Pots and Pans

By FLORA M. ISAACS

Some people get a "good feeling" by doing organization work, some by serving the community, some by giving sums of money and in numerous other humanitarian ways but one of the best and easiest ways to get that feeling is by sending a box of goodies to a friend or relative in service. Many of these young boys and girls in service are away from home for the first time and every piece of mail or box means more than anyone at home can imagine. The goodies which are shared by all helps to form a camaraderie so necessary among individuals of different backgrounds. An excerpt from a letter has a wealth of meaning between the lines and explains exactly what we mean.

"Dear Aunt Flora: Thanks a million for the cookies. They were delicious and the boys snapped them up in a matter of minutes. I even managed to get a few to eat for myself. Keep them rolling... Love from your nephew, G. I. Joe."

You can bet we'll keep them rolling and if anyone wants to get the thrill of receiving a thank-you note like the above you can start baking the following cookies, which were gobbled up in a matter of minutes.

HONEY PEANUT COOKIES

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{3}$ cup milk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup chopped raisins
1 cup chopped peanuts

Mix ingredients in order given. Roll a teaspoonful of the dough about the size of a walnut in the hands and arrange about an inch apart on a greased cookie sheet. Flatten down with the bottom of a glass which should be dipped in cold water occasionally to prevent sticking to the cookie. Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) for 15 to 20 minutes or until the cookies are light brown. Remove while still warm to a wire rack. When thoroughly cooled wrap one or two in wax paper for mailing purposes.

FILLED COOKIES

1 cup shortening
 $1\frac{1}{3}$ cup brown sugar
 $3\frac{1}{3}$ cups sifted all-purpose flour

2 eggs
 $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons vanilla
 $\frac{2}{3}$ teaspoon soda
 $\frac{1}{3}$ teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Add vanilla and sifted dry ingredients. Place in refrigerator for several hours or in freezing compartment until very firm. While dough is chilling make the filling. Roll small quantities of the dough about $\frac{1}{8}$ inch thick. Cut with a cookie cutter (about 2-inch size) and arrange on a greased cookie sheet about one-inch apart. Place a teaspoonful of the filling on each cookie. Cover each one with a second cookie. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 10-15 minutes or until cookies are brown. Cool thoroughly before wrapping or storing.

FILLING FOR COOKIES

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup raisins
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup dates, chopped
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup figs, chopped
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup nuts, chopped
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water
2 tablespoons flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ lemon, juice and grated rind

Combine flour and sugar and add water mixing until smooth. Add chopped fruits and cook over a low flame until thick and mushy. Add lemon juice, rind and nuts. Cool before using.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 eggs
2 teaspoons baking powder
pinch of salt

Beat eggs and sugar until light and creamy. Add peanut butter and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Chill in refrigerator for about half an hour. This makes the dough easier to handle. Form into small balls about the size of a walnut. Arrange on a greased cookie sheet about one inch apart. Press down. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.).

Our Film Folk

By LEON GUTTERMAN

HOLLYWOOD—The brilliant young New York composer, Leonard Rosenman, has a reputation for doing the unexpected. At the age of 16 he took his first piano lesson. Yet by the time he was 18 he was being acclaimed an accomplished pianist and at 20 he was writing operas.

Now musician Rosenman is breaking a major—and a minor—precedent in Hollywood. Usually a composer does not write until he sees the completed film. Ignoring this custom, the young composer started writing the music for Warner Bros'. CinemaScope production, "East of Eden" as it was being filmed.

"The idea for scoring a picture during production is director Elia Kazan's," confesses Rosenman. "But it is an idea which I enthusiastically endorse. By watching the action develop I believe I can compose a much more vibrant score.

"I can see how Julie Harris, the star of the picture, is interpreting her role and then I compose music in that mood. Music must enrich and permeate the story while at the same time remaining a subordinate theme to it. By composing simultaneously with the filming, I can write musical passages, not merely harmonic sound effects."

Besides spending several hours each day as a spectator on the set, Rosenman often was in conference with Kazan. "Kazan is a man who has definite viewpoints on the place and value of music in motion pictures. He is a stickler in getting exactly what he wants. For the picture he insisted when music called for the flavor and feeling of 1917, is not to be 1916 or 1918."

Rosenman's musical career began accidentally. While recovering at home from a bout with the flu, the youthful convalescent heard a Stravinsky composition on the radio. This aroused in him a desire to learn to play the piano. He has been happily putting the keys through new paces ever since.

Rosenman, the son of a grocery chain owner, had his schooling interrupted by World War II. But even in the Army he continued with his music. At the Air Force Base he did the score for its coast to coast radio show. He even composed a concerto for the piano while overseas on Guam and Saipan. It was never published, but Rosenman regarded it as "a stay against insanity." Upon his discharge, he enrolled at the University of California. He received his diploma as a music major in 1950. He has since written many compositions.

According to Milton Berle, a Russian Jew in Moscow reported to the police that his parrot was missing. He was asked whether the parrot talked. "Yes," replied the Jew, "but any political opinions he expresses are strictly his own."

Groucho Marx, who visited West Germany, tells the story of the German who tried to explain the Atlantic Pact Organization to a friend. Said the German: "The United States will provide money and air power. Great Britain will also provide air power and add her fleet. France will contribute mainly to ground forces, and we, the Germans, will provide the war criminals."

Between You and Me

will not assign any delegates to the Washington conference because the CJFWF is a non-political organization . . . However, it will be represented at the parley by ten observers . . . The sentiments expressed by the conference will thus reflect the general mood prevailing among the largest part of American Jewry . . . The conference will demonstrate the continuity of the meetings which the presidents of major organizations hold from time to time in New York on problems concerning Israel . . . It will prove the usefulness of the creation of a representative body of Zionists and non-Zionists in this country interested in seeing that justice is done to Israel within the framework of a long term U. S. policy for the Middle East.

Eastland's attention. It was pointed out that the presence of Baerman on Sen. Eastland's staff might affect the senator's eligibility for the chairmanship of the Internal Security Committee. Sen. Eastland agreed to fire Baerman, reportedly explaining that he didn't know Baerman's background.

The ADL has information that Baerman was the 1944 platform chairman of a convention in Detroit which nominated Smith as a candidate for the presidency of the United States on an "American First" party ticket. During World War II Baerman was reported to have offered his services to persons accused of pro-Nazi sedition by the United States Government. After the war he urged special consideration for Germany and Austria.

Smith quoted with favor from Sen. Eastland's remarks during the time Baerman worked in the Eastland office. The Senator's views on minority matters are on public record. A June 29, 1945, speech to the Senate said "the white Anglo-Saxon is the forgotten man in America today." He said "the Communist Party is behind the present FEPC" and urged that union leader Sidney Hillman be deported. Nazi occupation troops in France, according to the Senator, behaved far better than American soldiers of the Negro race. He contended that "this agitation for social equality has destroyed racial tolerance."

After the Supreme Court decision in the school segregation cases, Sen. Eastland charged from the Senate floor that the U. S. Supreme Court is "indoctrinated and brainwashed by leftwing, Communist-front organizations." He urged defiance of the court's decision by stating that the South would not comply with the ruling and that the court attempt to impose it by force, "stern resistance and lawlessness will inevitably result." The Smith hate sheet, September issue, offered readers copies of the Eastland speech. It said: "We have obtained a limited number of these speeches . . . Please enclose a small donation to cover the cost of mailing and handling."

Parkway Jewish Center's Story An Inspiring One

Jewish Survival—Main Objective

Our main objective is not the furtherance of this or that brand of Judaism but to lay a sound foundation for dignified Jewish survival. We would like to see our children and these young parents living as upright Jews, neither apologetic nor over-sensitive. We want them to know what it is all about: why Jews are vilified by some while highly praised by others. We wish the Parkway Jewish Center to become the community rallying point for all Jewish men, women and children in the area, be they "less religious, more religious at all." Thus, we shall become a true "Melting Pot" type of a Jewish community.

In Basements and Garages

Our activities are temporarily carried on in several basements and garages. This, however, cannot be continued for long. A building must be erected to provide adequately for the religious, educational, social, and recreational needs of the entire Jewish population in the East Parkway area.

Our aim is to have the first wing of our Center building erected by this coming September. For this purpose we already acquired a suitable lot at the edge of Eastmont, adjacent to the other communities in the area. An estimated $100,000 is needed for the erection of the first wing of the Center, which would serve for all our activities until the time of expansion, when the first wing would function solely as our School Building. From the residents of the area, most of them with limited financial income, only a part of the required sum can be expected. To implement our building program, indispensable for dignified existence as American Jews, we must look for outside assistance.

A Struggling Group—

A Proud Community

We are calling upon Jewish men and women in the greater Pittsburgh area with a sense of responsibility to help us in our striving to achieve our goal. Their investments in the erection of the Parkway Jewish Center will bear ample fruits. What is now a struggling group of young men and women will one day be a proud Jewish community. Those who now solicit assistance will one day be a thriving Jewish community—a reservoir of support for all worthy causes, locally, in Israel, and elsewhere. Our children will gratefully remember them for having assisted them to become proud American Jews, with wholesome characters and integrated personalities.

This is the story of the beginnings of what we hope will become a glorious drama, unfolding itself with the birth of this new Jewish community in suburban Pittsburgh.
